MAD ABOUT EFFICIENT EXCAVATION

Five years ago, brothers Anthony and Adrian Maddalon started Mad Bros. Earthmoving. Based at Werribee South, the company specialises in excavations and earthworks and has been removing and disposing of all types of material and clay from development sites in the private and civil project sector across Melbourne.

From small beginnings, the business has expanded quickly despite the recent tough times in the construction industry.

"Mad Bros. started with the two of us carting and disposing of soil and materials. Now we have grown to around 40 employees," said director Anthony Maddalon.

The Pinnacle apartments are a new landmark building at Doncaster Hill and the project was one of Mad Bros. notable recent jobs. It required basement excavation on a main road site for the 12-storey residential development.

Mad Bros. Earthmoving is currently engaged on three very different large jobs, including site preparation works on the $400M Epworth Hospital redevelopment at Richmond for Epworth HealthCare; the 6.4km Dingley Bypass for Vic Roads and on the developer Cedar Woods' $1.5b Williams Landing residential estate which will contain 2,500 homes plus a town centre, railway station and freeway access.

The wide variation of contracts is eagerly received by the Maddalon brothers, whose workforce has had no problem meeting the different needs of each new task as the business has grown.

"When you look at a job there are always challenges and even obstacles at times, but once we get started the jobs have all gone smoothly because we have a great team and we are considered efficient and reliable by our clients," said Anthony.

Dear Anthony

I'm writing to thank you on behalf of every Victorian for your role in the historic level crossing removals at North Road in Ormond, Burke Road in Glen Iris, McKinnon Road in McKinnon and Centre Road in Bentleigh.

The team's hard work and dedication to achieving the best result for the community will leave a lasting legacy on our city and state.

As the first four crossings to go, your efforts have set the standard as we get on and remove Melbourne's 50 most dangerous and congested level crossings by 2022.

Not only can you take pride in delivering this project in record time and through tough conditions, but also in helping make Victoria a more liveable, productive and safe place to call home.

Congratulations on a job well done.

Yours sincerely

The Hon Daniel Andrews MP
